

3D Large Xmas Cookie/Treat Bags

Is it a Box or is it a Bag? Really easy to make and suprisingly strong it's a combination of both ... and just the right size for Cookies for Santa or Rudolph etc!!

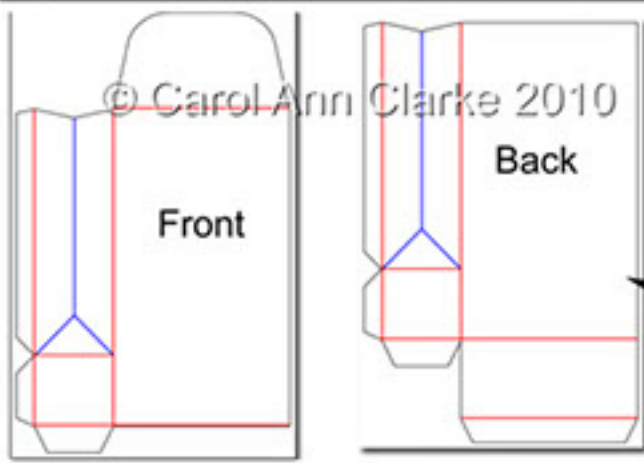

For best results print sheets onto photo paper or good quality cardstock.

Before cutting out use a ruler and scoring tool to score the fold lines on sheets where marked.

The red, partial, score registration lines are for the bag sides. I have marked them in red on the photo.

Cut out all pieces. Fold and crease all score lines using a bone folder.

The red lines denote mountain folds and the blue lines valley folds

This step is optional but I found it gave better results to pierce a small hole at the points of the triangle folds on the sides.

I have marked them in red on the photo

Once you have folded and creased it will look like this from the side. If you have problems folding and creasing the partial folds this can be done by pinching the edges firmly together. Complete both sides in the same way

Place the front and back side by side and add double sided tape where marked in blue on the photo

Join the front to the back

Turn over and fold in the side. I have marked in blue the place where the double sided tape that we added earlier is.

Fold the back over and adhere in place. Doing it this way will ensure your box is totally square.

Stand the bag up and turn upside down. Fold in the 2 flaps we added double sided tape to earlier. I have marked them in blue on the photo

Fold down the base and tuck in the long flap making sure all edges adhere to complete the base of the bag

I wrapped cookies in cellophane and tied with a ribbon to add to the bag ... It's surprisingly roomy! Which is just as well as depending where you are on Santa's Route he just might need a few more as I've heard he can get quite peckish on Xmas Eve! lol

Pinch the sides of your bag together at the top and fold down the flap

I am sealing my bag with a clear parcel seal, but you could use Sellotape, Velcro dots or magnets etc if wished.

There are tags and decoupage holly in the kits too. The holly are mirror images so you can use them back to back if wished.

I wrote a greeting on the reverse of my tag.

Add the tag ...

... and the decoupage holly wherever you would like.

also added glitter to the snow ... but you could also add gems, tiny pom poms, peel offs etc etc etc!!
