

Floating Shadow Box Cards by SuzieQ Kuttables

This tutorial is using my design Just Flying By Card

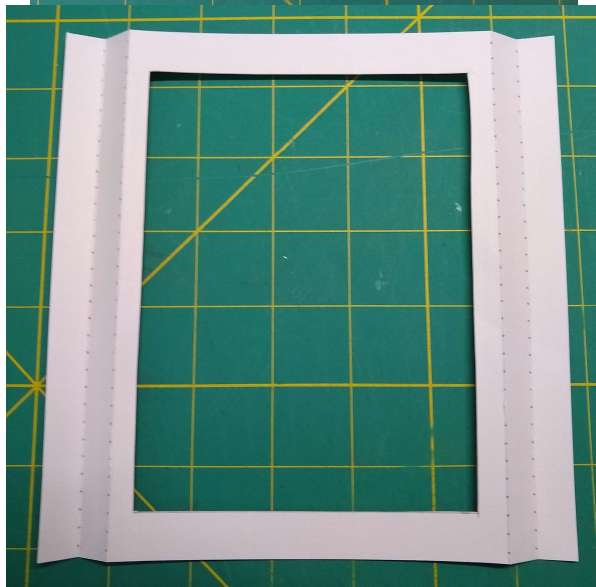

The finished card. Acetate for butterflies not included

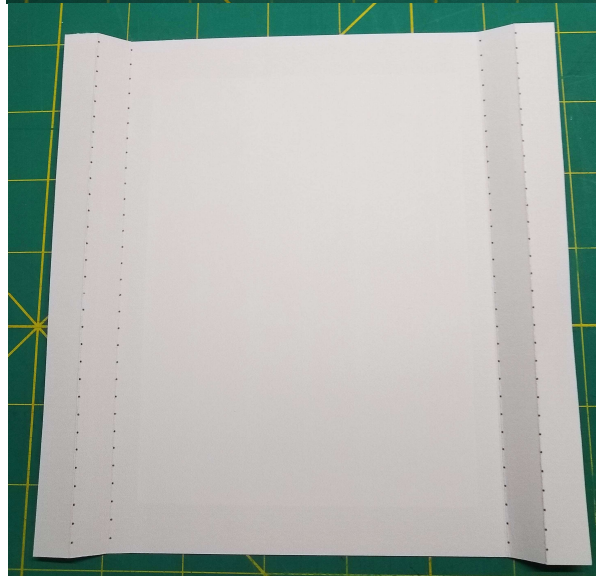

Squeezing the ends towards the center, the card folds flat to fit into a 5 x 7 envelope. When it is taken out of the envelope it pops open. The butterflies float and fly by working the two ends.

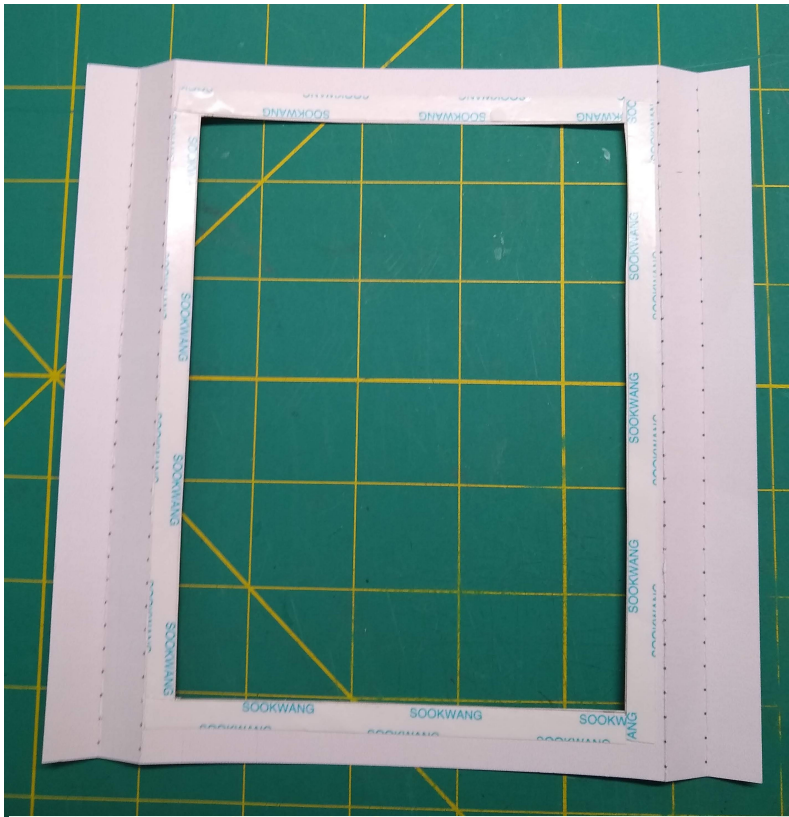

You'll need some acetate material like on food or craft packages. I cut strips from the acetate pictured to the left.

Print Pg 1 twice. Cut the center out of one of them. This will be the front of the card. The other is the back of the card.

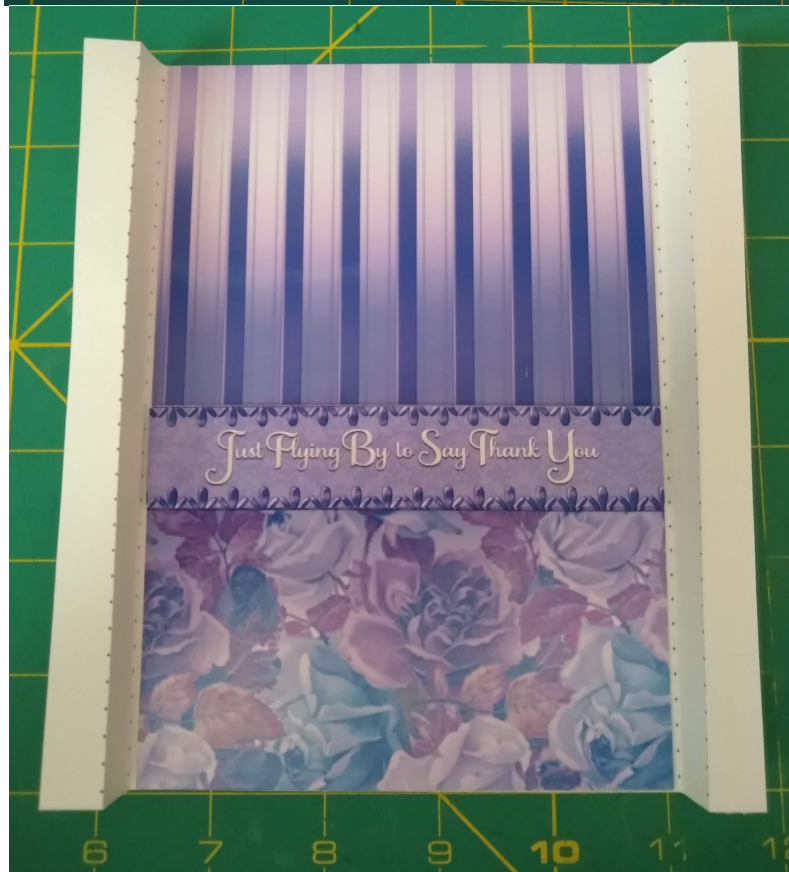

Score, fold, and crease the perforation places. I always make the card base from heavy cardstock. That way you can print the solid paper 1st (not shown) then turn it over and print the card. I also do this so it can be written on, where photo paper, especially the back may not be easy to write your message.

Glue or use double sided tape and attach the frame, matching the inside holes.

Be careful not to get glue or tape on the side that would be the inside as it will stick your card together where you don't want it.

Glue the inside panel to the inside being careful to center it between the perforations and top and bottom. Attach the banner sentiment with 3D tape.

Using the acetate strips you cut, attach some double sided tape and place the butterflies where you desire. See the next photo.

Then working with one side at a time attach the front to back.
